In the bustling city of Kolhapur, a young boy named Abhimanyu Bhanage picked up a badminton racquet for the first time at the age of ten. Little did anyone know that this moment would mark the beginning of an inspiring journey.

Abhimanyu's passion for badminton was evident from the start. Representing Kolhapur District for an incredible nine consecutive years, he became a pillar of the team. His commitment and skill stood out, earning him a spot in the prestigious All-India tournaments held in Delhi in 2007—a testament to his unwavering dedication.

During his early years, Abhimanyu's grit shone brightly. From 2002 to 2004, he consistently reached the semi-finals in doubles at the state junior championships. These milestones fueled his ambition, and he began leading his college team to victory year after year, dominating the Inter-College tournaments from 2001 to 2005.

Abhimanyu's leadership qualities became evident when he was named University Captain for three consecutive years. Under his guidance, the team qualified for All-India University events in 2007. Recognizing his talent and potential, he was selected as one of Maharashtra's top 10 players for the prestigious Mr. Hadi Coaching Camp in Pune—a rare honor that solidified his reputation as a formidable player.

Despite his growing accolades, Abhimanyu remained deeply connected to his roots in Kolhapur. Even as he crossed milestones and inspired young players, he never forgot where his journey began—with a ten-year-old boy and a racquet, driven by a dream.
